Frank S. Edwards : A Campaign in New Mexico with Colonel Doniphan (Dodo Press) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Campaign in New Mexico with Colonel Doniphan (Dodo Press):

Frank S. Edwards joined a volunteer artillery company in St. Louis, Missouri when the Mexican American War broke out in spring 1846. Edwards's company marched over the Santa Fe Trail to help capture and occupy New Mexico. He joined Colonel Alexander Doniphan's Missouri volunteers, who defeated superior Mexican forces at the Battles of Bracito near El Paso and of Sacramento farther south in Chihuahua. His works include A Campaign in New Mexico With Colonel Doniphan (1847).
