Nice quality plastic "paper" that should last a long time. The maps are detailed well and have just enough detail so they aren't cluttered. Most main trails are on here. I did notice however that they are missing many smaller tributaries that fork off main trails which is annoying. Hiking the Carson Iceberg Wilderness this last weekend showed that this map completely omits the trails that go under Sword and Lost lake off the main County line trail. Those trails are clearly marked at the trail head so I don't know why they would not be on this map of "trails"... That is disappointing.

Otherwise a nice maps.

I used this map for a short trip into Emigrant wilderness. While the trails themselves were accurate, I found that not all the (official) campsites I found along the trail were marked on the map. I also found that every creek marked on the map was bone dry, but I expected that given the drought and it being late in the summer.

Can't trust this map! I purchased this map for a trip to the Carson-Iceberg Wilderness and found an error in the map. I hiked from Highland Lakes to Asa Lake and while this map has the Pacific Crest Trail to the left of Lake Asa, this is not the case. The Pacific Crest trail is to the right of Lake Asa. If i cannot trust this map for a quick day hike there is no way I will trust it for a full blown backpacking trip. See for yourself, look up Lake Asa on google maps and check against this map...
