Andrei Bitov, Anatoly Pristavkin, Ludmila Ulitskaya, Andrei Platonov : Childhood, Zip Other Stories (New Russian Writing) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Childhood, Zip Other Stories (New Russian Writing):

Centred on the theme of childhood this collection includes: two early stories by Bitov about the growing awareness in children of life's mystery and beauty; Platonov's story bearing the stamp of his inimitable style; Ulitskaya's perspicacious story of the complex relationship between twin sisters; Anatoly Pristavkin about childhood in the special orphanages for children of "enemies of the people".

"To some extent the book is an attempt to come to grips with the chaos of the present through an examination of the formative past . . . "Childhood" is in most ways a rare treat and is a worthy addition to the Glas series." --Moscow Times
