WritetrakIn just 92 pages (six less, if you count the introduction pages) Robert M. Utley's A CLASH OF CULTURES offers up one of the best descriptive accounts of Arizona's Fort Bowie, Apache Pass and some of the Apaches' finest war chiefs and historical figures than any book of its size or scope! The photos alone add remarkable insight to the people and times. It is a gem, a small historical and visual treasure for anyone interested in a great introduction to an important and often overlooked part of American history. Walking Apache Pass and the Fort Bowie area I used this book as a visual guide and thanks to Utley saw more than just the remnants of a lost time. Who knows, maybe that's the power of the written word?

This publication tells the story of the bitter conflict between the Chiricahua Apaches and the United States military. For more than 30 years Fort Bowie and Apache Pass were the focal point of military operations eventually culminating in the surrender of Geronimo in 1886 and the banishment of the Chiricahuas to Florida and Alabama. Fort Bowie was the site of the Bascom Affair, a wagon train massacre, and the battle of Apache Pass, where a large force of Chiricahua Apaches under Mangus Colorados and Cochise fought the California Volunteers. Fort Bowie is known as the monument to the bravery and endurance of U.S. soldiers in paving the way for westward settlement and the taming of the western frontier.
