Patricia Harris, David Lyon : Connecticut (Art of the State) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Connecticut (Art of the State):

The Connecticut countryside is as bucolic as it was in Colonial days, and its genteel "celebrity suburbs" are home to Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, Tommy Hilfiger, Whoopi Goldberg, David Letterman, and Martha Stewart, who has made Connecticut chic a national style. From Mark Twain to Harriet Beecher Stowe, from the Long Wharf Theater and Yale University to Mystic Seaport and Hartford's Old State House, site of the landmark Amistad trial, here are the unique charms of the Nutmeg State celebrated in a perfect stocking stuffer for natives, tourists, and Yale grads alike. 120 illustrations, 100 in full color
