Points of Interest. By Victoria Van Dalsen This is a great little book to find day trips all over Michigan. We've made plans to check out several suggested places of interest that are a bit further than just a day trip. Some places I'd never heard of before and I've lived in Michigan all my life! I'm so glad I bought this book.

About the Author Mike Link is the author of 22 books and numerous magazine articles. He and his wife, Kate, live in Willow River, Minnesota, where they enjoy helping their grandchildren discover the world of nature and play. The bird feeders are always full, and the forest has wonderful trails. For 37 years Mike directed the Audubon Center and now, entering retirement, he looks forward to writing, teaching for both Northland College and Hamline University, and, of course, spending time with the grandchildren. As his books attest, traveling is another passion. With fifty states and twenty countries covering his travels, paddles, hikes and explorations, he feels that he owes a debt to the earth. Whether we call it Mother Nature, Gaia or Creation, the earth is our source of air, water and sustenance, and its destruction is a crime.
