If you are in need of a little sand, sun and adventure, preferably somewhere on a carefree Caribbean island. Then why not try Aruba. One of the lesser-known islands of the West Indies and it's filled with spectacular beaches and water so blue even sapphires are jealous!! Given the fact that it's so close to the equator (only about 12 away) Aruba makes an excellent topical getaway is consistently in the 75 to 82 temperature range all year round, which means it's an excellent place to shake off some mid winter chill. Aruba is one of the smaller Caribbean islands with a population of about 112,000 people all of whom provide many unique and intriguing cultural influences such as South America Venezuela, Colombia and the Netherlands is cultural influences. Also impact of the languages that are spoken to the three main languages on this tropical island paradise or Spanish Dutch and English, this of course means that US and UK tourists will not have to deal with a language barrier while trying to buy sunscreen, sunglasses or make dinner reservations. Speaking of dinner reservations over that some of the best seafood restaurants in the world with a variety of taste bud tickling fresh seafood caught daily by local fishermen not to mention flown in from all over the world on a daily basis but a seafood and landing on the beach and drinking tropical drinks with little umbrellas in them is a little too slow for you. Don't worry, Aruba has plenty of action as well, everything from jet skis, water skiing, surfing and parasailing not to mention off-road jeep tours of the island for as many as 4 to 5 people (depending on the model of jeep) and if you would prefer to socialize, while getting your daily dose of adrenaline there are plenty of opportunities for football (what the Americans call soccer) or beach volleyball. So whether you are looking for a laid-back beach vacations or an adrenaline filled adventure of off-road driving in this tropical island paradise in jeeps or enjoying some world-class Caribbean cuisine and seafood than Aruba is the place for you and why not make your vacation even more enjoyable by alleviating the stress that comes with planning the vacation itinerary why not let Ms. passport plan in the itinerary for you.
