Montana: a scenic treasureBy Fred Stephenlove the photos of this book. since i will be moving to Montana within 2 years. i wanted to see what is available in the state. it is a great book to have on the coffee table for looking and a conversation piece.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful.

Great collectionBy G. BakerUsed as business gift for European colleague. Very representative on my home (Montana). If you're seeking something more than a postcard with great pics and limited explanations - this is a good choice.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Beautiful pictures of a beautiful stateBy Gwen HainesSuch gorgeous pictures. My daughter lives in Montana, and I can see why she loves it.

Drawn to the more obscure and hidden places the crowds miss, photographers Lambing and Mumford have compiled a collection of photographs spanning the vast state of Montana: beautifully aged historic structures, hard-to reach lakes, elusive wildlife, and broad panoramas from remote locales. Through planning and persistence, theyve been rewarded with some truly magical moments, which they share in Montana: A Scenic Treasure.

About the AuthorJohn Lambing is a hydrologist with the U.S. Geological Survey in Helena, Montana. Originally from St. Louis, Missouri, he has lived in Montana since 1981 and has explored the West extensively, focusing on Montana. John's photos have been published in Montana Magazine, Montana Outdoors, National Geographic books, regional publications, and other books on Montana. Wayne Mumford lives with his family near Kalispell, Montana. Born in northern California, he has lived in Montana for the last twenty years. His images have appeared in National Geographic Traveler, Travel Leisure, Sunset, Sierra, Lufthansa Magazine, Horizon Air Magazine, Old West, National Parks, Montana Magazine, and many more. Wayne's photographs appear in numerous nationally and internationally published books, including The Saga of Lewis and Clark: Into the Uncharted West.
