Margaret Littman : Moon Nashville (Moon Handbooks) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Moon Nashville (Moon Handbooks):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great guide for a great cityBy Robert ReddThis book was a big help in planning our vacation. It was current enough to provide good information but it is highly recommended that you still verify everything online or make a phone call. Hours change, prices change, places move or go out of business. A book can't update that quickly. For providing solid ideas and help in planning a trip though this is a guide I can highly recommend.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Get it.By CSA lot of useful information on neighborhoods and shopping. We took the Nash Trash tour because of this book and were thoroughly entertained.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Three StarsBy zrobsterFair

Moon Handbooks give you the tools to make your own choices, with Insider tips on the best spots to eat, drink, sleep, shop, and explore, marked with a Moon symbol, including the Best Place to See Elvis; the Most Theatrical Dining Experience; the Most Inventive Brewery; the Best Live Radio Show; the Best Place to Browse for Tunes; and the Most Historic Hotel. 6 easy-to-use, full-color neighborhood maps. Excursions to Land Between the Lakes, Lynchburg, and Bell Buckle. The firsthand experience and unique perspective of author Margaret Littman.

About the Author Margaret Littman is both an old-timer and a relative newcomer to Nashville. After graduating from Vanderbilt University, she left Tennessee for points north over the course of her writing career. But after 17 years she could no longer resist the siren song of the Parthenon, bluegrass music, or fried pickles, so she returned to Nashville, where she writes about Music City, Southeast travel, food, pets, and more. An avid stand-up paddler, she loves being a day trip away from the Tennessee River to the south, Reelfoot Lake to the west, and Norris Dam to the east. There's nothing Margaret loves more than telling natives something they didn't know about their home state. And with 75,000 miles on her station wagon already, she has lots of ideas for little-known places to listen to music, eat barbecue, paddle a lake, hike to a waterfall, or buy works by local artists. Margaret's work has appeared in national and regional magazines, including Wine Enthusiast, Entrepreneur, The Tennessean, and many others. She is the author of several guidebooks as well as the Nashville Essential Guide, an iPhone app. Margaret has loved lots of places she's lived, but the day she looked down and realized she was wearing cowboy boots in synagogue, she knew she had become a Nashvillian.
