By EagleRock DudeI was planning a road trip from LA thru Vegas to parts of Utah and Arizona. I have internet devices, but I like something that does not required batteries or a signal. I found this book to be very helpful. Using the internet, you really have no idea whom is writing what you are reading. I could tell the author of this book is a professional. He has a consistent honest style and tells it like it is. Using mostly this book I ended up planning my road trip from Zion to Moab(arches) to Page(antelope canyons) to Grand Canyon to Sedona and back to Vegas/LA. And while driving, I had my wife reading things from the chapters to where we were headed next to verify.My favorite feature of the book(other than the maps or course) is that he gives you recommendations on what to see depending on how much time you have. For example...if you just have a few hours, a whole day, or more. Just the way I think. He also shows the driving times between destinations. Exactly what I needed. Based on the book I did prioritize and skip some things (Bryce canyon for example) that I knew I just did not have the time to see.I used this book more for the parks information and driving, not so much for places to eat or motels. It does have some sections on New Mexico I think, but I did not go there.Excellent guide and book.

By Jen SmithGreat book! I bought this for my in-laws, and did some reading before I handed it over. Tim Hull's writing is clear and evocative, and I really like his choice of destinations. Highly recommended.
