Moon Spotlight Albuquerque is a 60-page compact guide covering the best of New Mexico's largest city. New Mexico native Zora O'Neill offers her firsthand advice on must-see attractions, as well as maps with sightseeing highlights, so you can make the most of your time. This lightweight guide is packed with recommendations on entertainment, shopping, recreation, hotels, food, and transportation, making navigating this lively metropolis uncomplicated and enjoyable. This Spotlight guidebook is excerpted from Moon Santa Fe, Taos Albuquerque.

About the Author Zora O'Neill has lived in New York City since 1998, but still calls New Mexico home. Growing up, she attended ceremonial dances at Taos Pueblo and camped in the Pecos Wilderness but she took it for granted, and perhaps even complained about it when she was dragged out of bed before dawn for some adventure. It wasn't until she had moved away and traveled the world that she realized in what a wild, culturally rich place she'd been raised. Zora's travels and writing have taken her on a circuitous route back to her home. Graduate study in the Middle East taught her about the Arab roots of adobe and irrigation channels; visiting hotels in southern Spain while researching guidebooks was disorienting the brick floors, thick walls, and shady courtyards felt just like those in Santa Fe. For guidebook work in Mexico, she has followed the threads of Spanish and indigenous culinary traditions as they made their way up to her home state. All along in her travels, Zora has been particularly interested in food, occasionally working as a cook, caterer, and cookbook author (Forking Fantastic! Put the Party Back in Dinner Party was published in 2009). Working on Moon Santa Fe, Taos Albuquerque gave her another excuse to seek out the best red chile enchiladas and most creative uses of local organic produce. Zora is also the author of Moon New Mexico. Find more information and updates to this guidebook on Zora's website, moonsantafe.com.
