There are some things that are omitted (some of the best restaurants and stores) that should be included. Check out the Design Sponge City Guide online, it is free... or trip advisor! Example of store missing Daytrip Society in Kennebunkport!!! So great! Or Blanche and Mimi in Portland, Maine. Adorable! Also, since Portsmouth NH is so much part of the seacoast, and a beautiful town... I would take a few pages and include it! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great Book On Maine's Southern Coast, Even If A Bit Out Of Date By The Footpath Cowboy MOON SPOTLIGHTS MAINE'S SOUTHERN COAST is a great book about the southern coast of Maine, even though, as the previous reviewer said, it's missing some information on dining and shopping. Nevertheless, if you're primarily into recreation, this book is for you. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great Travel Book By Gary A. Johnson. May not be the Fancy color Travel Book but is the most useful with good basic maps, lodgings restaurants. It is not all 5 star lodging restaurants that I have found in other books.

About the Author Despite brief out-of-state interludes for college, grad school, and a stint as a ski bum, Hilary Nangle has never been able to resist the lure of her home state. She grew up on Maine's coast, spending much of each winter skiing in the western mountains. Her sense of wanderlust was ignited when she became a whitewater-rafting guide on the Kennebec River, which gave her a chance to explore the central and northern regions of the state. When she tired of her parents asking when she was going to get a real job, she drew on her writing skills and began seeking editorial work. She started out editing professional ski tour publications, and then became a managing editor for a food trade publication and later a features editor for a daily newspaper. She currently works as a freelance writer and editor. Hilary never tires of exploring Maine, always seeking out the offbeat and quirky, and rarely resisting the invitation of a back road. To her husband's dismay, she inherited her grandmother's shopping gene and can't pass a used bookstore, artisans gallery, or antiques shop without browsing. She's equally curious about food and has never met a lobster she didn't like. Hilary still divides her year between the coast and the mountains, residing with her husband, photographer Tom Nangle, and their oversized dog. Both share her passions for long walks and Maine-made ice cream. To follow Hilary's travels, visit mainetravelmaven.com.
